

What makes you curious?

What to do

Head out into your garden and collect something that you find exciting or interesting, or that you want to know more about. You might want to draw your object, or write down words to describe it in the space below.

Some questions to think about...

What colour is it? What shape is it? Did someone make it? Is it alive? What is it used for? What does it feel like? Where did you find it? Does it remind you of something else? What else can you think of? Can you invent a game to play with it? Could you do some research to find out more about it?
